

Workplace Health and Safety Policy Statement

Water Dynamics has been irrigating Australia for over 30 years and operates in various locations around the country.

Water Dynamics is a complete irrigation provider that specialises in the provision of irrigation and water management services, Australia-wide, across different industries, including agriculture, government, industrial, commercial, mining and residential. Our specialists and technicians work with our clients and customers to provide water solutions from product selection and design to installation, service, and repair.

At Water Dynamics we are committed to ensuring our staff, contractors and anyone we interact with, return home every day, free from harm.

Water Dynamics controls risks as reasonably practicable for all activities and is committed to eliminating hazards & fulfilling our legal responsibilities. This is achieved through consultation and engagement of all levels of staff and appropriate worker representation and to empower our workers to develop a continual improvement of safety initiatives with a positive culture.

The accountability for health and safety lies with all staff. Senior management encourages open communication that empowers all staff to identify hazards and risks and the commitment of continual improvement of our Safety Management System. Our people are aware that they must take responsibility of their own actions that demonstrates a safe system of work.

Our management will provide appropriate resources as far as is reasonably practicable to ensure the health and safety for our people at all times.
